Scroll Praises Queen's Work.

Mayor Walker presented the queen with a scroll on behalf of the city, in which he praised her for her work in improving the status of Roumania as a nation.

"The modern history of this rapidly changing world," said the scroll, in part, "has informed us of the fact that in the hands of your imperial majesty the kingdom of Roumania has vastly expanded the territory which you are called upon to govern and has within the reign of his majesty King Ferdinand and yourself almost doubled its population.

"The allegiance of our people, your majesty, belongs to that freedom with which we have been hiessed, but our hearts go out to

Tall, possibly five ten, she looks really slim, though she must weigh about 150 pounds. And she carries herself as serenely well as any story book queen. Her eyes are blue. Her skin is fair and unrouged. Yes, there are a few wrinkles, just a few at the corners of the eyes, and they crinkle up as her face moves when she talks. Her lips were touched, not thickly, with lipstick of a scarlet hue. And when she smiles you forget about across the seas to enjoy for even a short visit the stimulus of our free

Reporters on the Macom were beseeching the queen's representatives in vain for another interview when suddenly Marie thrust her head from a window of pilot house and smiled down at them.

"My, you look wet," she said. "I wish I could ask you in but there are so many of you, aren't there?"

She stayed at the window several minutes, answering with smiling good nature questions flung up at her.

WELCOME TO WASHINGTON.

The National Capital extends a cordial welcome to the Queen of Roumania and her children. Their stay here is necessarily brief, but it is hoped that they may return after their tour through the country, in order that they may inspect more at leisure the memorials of this center of American history.

A visit to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier a glimpse of Mount Vernon, and dinner with the President and Mrs. Coolidge will fill this busy day for Queen Marie. Tomorrow calls for a visit to Annapolis and Baltimore. Before departure from the United States the royal party may find it possible to revisit Washington, in which case their impressions will be rendered doubly vivid because of their tour through the States and their fresh appreciation of the relationship existing between the government and people of the United States.

During their stay in this country Queen Marie and her children will see many phases of Americanism. Whatever the form of the greetings they will receive, it is safe to say that the note of true hospitality will not be

SAFETY PROMOTION.

Last Friday night there was held in Frederick, Md., a "safety promotion mass meet- they have acquired dominance over Guatemala ing." When a fighter like Chamorr mendous cost of accidents in this country each year. Fire alone is responsible for the destruction of half a billion dollars' worth of revolution engineered by foreigners, it is a wealth annually. The loss of life and property on the highways is a national disgrace. The industrial accident list totals millions.

Various methods of combating these losses have been devised. The latest of them is the safety promotion meeting. Educational in its intent, the aim is to present to as many individuals as possible and to impress upon them the seriousness of the situation and to advise them as to what steps they make take individually to cut down the accident lists.

This is an excellent way to deal with this pressing problem, the solution of which has regulations attempting to force individuals to dividual the realization that he is responsible discoverer would be a public benefactor. to society not only for his own safety but to a certain extent for his neighbors, stands a good chance of being the solution. It would seem that here is a program which the Department of Labor might extend to advantage throughout the country.

FORT WASHINGTON.

Congress will have before it in December a bill held over from last session having to do with the disposal of Fort Washington and Fort Hunt. Despite the fact that certain features of these two government reservations make it desirable that they be retained permanently in their present state, lack of interest and lack of funds may cause them to be lost to the public.

Fort Washington lies in Maryland about 12 miles below Washington by river, and about 4 miles farther by road. According to best authority it was laid out by Maj. L'Enfant, probably about the year 1800. Included in the reservation are fine old colonial barracks and aged ramparts, parts of which may have been included in the original fortress. Laid out as part of the defense of the city of Washington, the old fort is a splendid example of the military science of the time. Fort Hunt lies directly across the river from Fort Washington, in Virginia. Situated on land purchased by George Washington to add to his estate, it marks the end of the new Mount Vernon boulevard, which will be completed before 1932, the two hundredth anniversary of George Washington's birth.

As it is the policy of the War Department to turn all unused surplus holdings into cash, a bill was introduced at the last session of Congress asking for permission to self a number of reservations, among which were included Forts Washington and Hunt. Largely through the intervention of the National Capital park and planning commission these two forts were taken out of the list temporarily. At a somewhat later date two additional bills were introduced, one authorizing the War Department to sell Forts Washington and Hunt, and the other authorizing the park commission to purchase them. These bills are pending.

The War Department needs all the money it can raise. The 354 acres of Fort Washington are assessed at over $175,000, and the 197% acres of Fort Hunt at over $178,000. The park commission has issued no statement as to whether or not it desires this property for should, it could not acquire it without an additional appropriation. Possibly Virginia and Maryland might contribute part of the cost, although the State of Maryland would also have to expend a considerable sum in building roads into the park, should it be established. The only other recourse would be through private purchase, either by public subscription or individual philanthropy.

Congress is disposed to give the War Department permission to sell its surplus property, and it is certain that before the end of the session Forts Washington and Hunt will be on the market. Unless, in the meantime, some means is found of raising funds for their preservation, they will be before long either farms or private institutions. Both should be preserved, however, as part of the great park system surounding the National Capital.

REDS IN NICARAGUA.

Mexican intrigue in Central America has been very active in recent months. The spread of the Mexican brand of sovietism is sought, the apparent object being the eventual transformation of the four Central American republics into soviets. The Mexican government has denied that it has any such aims or is lending itself to the Mexican radical elements that have been propagandizing in Central America. Special denial was made that the Mexican ship El Tropical had been fitted out by the Mexican government or commanded by Mexican naval officers when it carried arms and men from Manzanillo to the coast of Nicaragua. But reports from reliable Americans in Nicaragua concur in the statement that the Mexican government is aiding the revolutionists who are trying to overturn President Chamorro of Nicaragua.

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune states that he personally interviewed several of Chamorro's prisoners, who "unquestionably were Mexicans." Another wounded prisoner, one Seelbach, a German with American naturalization papers, was a gunner on the Tropical. He told the correspondent that the Russian envoy in Mexico was urging President Calles to create a radical group of states in Central America, which would receive aid and comfort from Russian sources.

The conference now in session at Corinto has for its object an agreement between Chamorro and the liberals looking to the establishment of a government that will be recognized by the United States, Mexico, and the Central American republics. The prospects of an agreement do not seem to be very bright. Mexico is opposing Chamorro because he is fighting radicalism, while the United States has refused to recognize Chamorro because he acquired power through a coup d'etat, contrary to the Central American treaty. It does not seem probable that a compromise candidate can be found who would be acceptable to Calles and Chamorro.

The fact that Chamorro stands out against the penetration of radicalism via Mexico and Russia is to his credit. Certainly it is not to the best interest of the United States to see Russian communism creeping toward Panama. The reds of Mexico are already boasting that takes a stand against them, and is supported by his own country in trying to put down a pity that he should fail through lack of recognition by the United States.

FIRE RESISTING TILE.

Experiments made this week in fire underwriters' laboratories at Chicago indicate that building construction of the future can be made thoroughly fire resisting, if not completely fireproof, without entailing a cost so excessive as to prohibit adoption of the process. The needless fire loss in the United States is appalling. Hundreds of millions of dollars defied other methods. Numerous laws and have gone up in flames, due to carelessness, or to poor construction. The discovery of any take care of themselves have had little effect. thing that will greatly reduce the destruction Education, however, bringing to the in- of property by fire is of national interest; the

> A stone tile type of concrete was erected into a wall a foot thick at the laboratories referred to, and subjected to tests that gave astonishing results. This form of tile blocks withstood 1,900 degrees of heat, sufficient to have melted silver or brass. Conflagrations that throw a heat of that intensity against a wall are rare, indeed. The test further showed that not until seven hours after that extreme heat had been applied and continued would combustible material on the opposite side of the wall catch fire.

> Streams of water were thrown upon this heated structure and its temperature thereby rapidly reduced, to determine what the effect would be if fire hose streams were playing upon a building so constructed. Instead of crumbling, it resisted a pressure of hydraulic jacks of 160 pounds to each square inch of surface. Science seems to have discovered a material that will aid mightily in keeping down the fire losses of this country.

COST OF DISTRIBUTION.

It is asserted that "the farmers received for food products in 1922, about $7,500,000,000, for which consumers paid $22,500,000,000; the railroads, and 3,000,000 jobbers, wholesalers and retailers got the difference.'

While it is impossible to tell whether these figures are accurate or not, it is undoubtedly true that, as a rule, the prices paid for food products by consumers are at least 100 per cent above the prices the farmers receive. The difference goes to the railroads, wholesalers and retailers.

Practically the same condition exists in the case of most manufactured goods. The consumers pay approximately 100 per cent more than the manufacturers receive. Most of the difference goes to the railroads, jobbers and retailers.

Estimates of the total annual domestic sale of food products and manufactured goods at retail vary from $24,000,000,000 to $40,000,-000,000. The figure of $35,000,000,000 is accepted generally as a fair estimate. The total annual value of agricultural and manufactured commodities averages between $70,000,000,000 and $72,000,000,000. Annual sales, of course, include cost of transportation.

It is a common practice to blame the railroads for the large spread between producer or manufacturer and consumer. In 1924 the inclusion in the park system, and even if it | Class I railroads transported more than 1,187,- | would know where to draw the line?

000,000 tons of freight, receiving a tota of about $4,333,585,000 for the work. cost per ton-mile was 1.11c. Of the total tonnage carried, 9.82 per cent were agricultural products, 2.34 per cent animals and products, and 21.62 per cent manufacturers and miscellaneous.

The big item of distribution is the transfer through the hands of jobbers, wholesalers and retailers. Probably this accounts for threefourths of the spread between producer or manufacturer and consumer. Can this spread be reduced?

Domestic trade today is complicated and expensive in response to a large and increasing public demand. Many middlemen furnish credit and accommodation to producers and manufacturers. They serve the public in the matter of promptness of delivery and convenience in storage and housing, and they bring the pro ducer or manufacturer to the very door of the consumer. This costs money and the consumer must pay for the service.

The average householder is so accustomed to this sort of service that great inconvenience and annoyance would result from its absence. While doubtless much of the spread might be eliminated by having the farmers do their own marketing, the service would have to be maintained or consumers would be the first to object. The country might as well realize that it must pay the cost of a high standard of living, which includes all the necessities that were once called extravagances. Distribution of processed, beautifully packed, choice products, in small packages, fresh and "on the dot," is a service that employs millions of workers.

LOCATING THE MARKET.

The problem of selecting an acceptable site for a central market in Washington is very complicated. The National Capital park and planning commission favors the Eckington area as a center for the farmers' market and the commission houses, on account of its transportation facilities and comparative accessibility, and because it is free from some of the objections which can be urged against the so-called midcity and waterfront sites.

So far as locating the central retail market is concerned, the commission is inclined to postpone the question until such time as the Center market must be removed. It is difficult to find a place where farmers selling at retail can meet the housewife with the market basket, while at the same time affording a junction for wholesale farmers, commission merchants, and shipping facilities. Is it necessary that all these factors should be combined?

The convenience of the retail marketing public should be kept paramount in locating the central retail market. It is easier for merchants to move products en masse to market than it is for householders to go to a remote spot to fill their baskets. A wholesale market could be located in the outskirts, but the retail central market should be centrally located.

The question will probably be threshed out in Congress when the time comes to move the Center market.

BROWNING IN COURT.

For those who can, with patience and attention, read through a long narrative poem and, as they read, enjoy a deftly-turned phrase, close reasoning in verse, and shrewd comments on the normal reactions of human nature to an emergency or crisis suddenly faced. Robert Browning has provided, in "The Ring and the Book," a fascinating account of a crime and the lawsuit that followed. Both the crime and the ensuing legal proceedings actually occurred, and that fact, of course, adds immensely to the interest of the poet's story, as well as furnishing a severe test of his art in the handling of his material. That he has thoroughly triumphed over many difficulties is the unanimous verdict of those who are best qualified to pronounce an opinion

Probably the least of Browning's thoughts. as he turned and re-turned the various phases of the tragedy of the olden time, was that some of his own verses would, at some future date, form the basis of not unimportant liti-Yet that is precisely what has happened. A Mr. George Benjamin Dodwell died and was buried in Langleybury churchyard in Hertfordshire, England. His son, animated by filial devotion and proud of his father's character and record, wished to inscribe on the tombstone the following lines from Browning's "Asolando:"

One who never turned his back, but marched breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed, though right were worsted,
wrong would triumph,
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight

better, Sleep to wakes

Not every one would deserve to have these noble verses placed over his grave, but, if it is assumed that the late Mr. Dodwell was worthy of them, there can be no doubt that they would form a magnificent inscription. The vicar of Langleybury, however, objected and refused to allow the carving to be done, not because of any inappropriateness in the phraseology, but because it was a rule of the parish, since the churchyard was consecrated in 1899, that no inscriptions, other than those taken from the Scriptures, should appear on the tombstones.

Thereupon the aggrieved son took the case to the St. Albans Consistory court, and petitioned for a "faculty" permitting him to use the lines in question for the purpose indicated. The chancellor of the court, in giving judgment, said that the parish rule regarding inscriptions from Holy Scripture only, apart from names and dates, could not, for one moment, be upheld. He held that the vicar had not exercised his discretion at all in considering the application, and accordingly he made an order authorizing the use of the Browning verses. The case is important in that it shows that the purchase of a burial plot in a cemetery has certain inalienable rights, which can not be overruled or abrogated by general regulations, however praiseworthy in intent. The chancellor's decision has a liberalizing tendency, at which none but bigoted or narrow-minded in-

New York Herald Tribune: Sen ator Ashurst has announced that he will ask to have the certificates of Mr. Vare from Pennsylvania and Mr. Smith from Illinois disregarded, If they are elected, regardless of any challenge of the legality of their election. The Arizona sen-ator would deny them the prima facie right to sit in the Senate on the ground that they had spent too much money in the primaries. Why Chestnut Farms Milk Is Rated Highest by the D. C. Health Dept.

Perfection Through Inspection

BABY shows are constant-ly discovering the "per-fect child." But, before the feet child." But, before the child can be found perfect, the perfect milk must be found. To the dairy farms from which comes Chestnut Farms Milk there go men from the government who are seekers of perfection. Perfection in the home life of the cows, perfection in dairy sanitation, perfection in cleanliness of milking utensils alone will satisfy these official inspectors. "Trifles make perfection, but perfection is no trifle." There must be incentive to perfection. While the official inspector sees to observation of government rulings by the dairy farmer, a Chestnut Farms judicial inspector re-checks . . . and awards the farmer a bonus for milk produced under conditions that make for . . . perfection. Our satisfaction is in knowing that Washington mothers see the comforting results of these painstaking efforts in the Health Department Reports—they rate Chestnut Farms Milk highest in the District.

LIPSTICKS - AND THE VOGUE OF RED.

VOGUE OF RED.

THE enormous vogue of red this autumn makes the selection of lipsticks a matter of more importance than ever—and heaven knows, it's always been important. For nothing is so utterly bad as two reds that fight.

Most of the red used just now is deep, but neither purple nor yellowish—neither on the order of the old coral nor of the more recent "lipstick" type which inclined to the lacquer. But, among these dark reds, there is a great deal of individual variation. Having bought a dress in one of the new shades, you must at once decide to search till you find a lipstick to harmonize, till you find a lipstick to harmonize for, in wearing red, the primary thing to be considered is this harmony of lips and dress rather than of lips and complexion, as would be the case if you had chosen to wear any other color. If your hat matches your dress, the necessity of having the lipstick accord is still further emphasized further emphasized. Stating it generally, the popular lipstick of the moment for almost all red-wearers ought to be a clear, dark red of the type usually used by brunettes. A lipstick almost verging on the brownish is better than one that seems either purple or orange.

Tomorrow Viola Paris will describe a special method of cleaning teeth that are difficult to whiten. (Copyright, 1926, by Vogue.)

Marcie was silent a moment, and then raised her voice a trifle—enough for it to carry to where Parrish stood.
"I think I'm in love again," she said. "Would you love a man that was cross to you?"

The drumming on the window started again. Audrey only smiled, and did not answer. When they retired, Marcie went singing to her own room, at the end of the upper hall. Parrish followed his wife into her dressing room.

She dropped her dress to the floor, picked it up, placed it on a hanger and drew forth a wadded as he termed it. I do not miss him. I feel at peace without his yelling about me, for I never did do anything right. I am now in a new town and a few people knew of my marriage in that place. I saw no reason to publish it, so being divorced I naturally went as a miss. I met a young man, one of the ambitious, straightforward type, in fact, a young man a girl could respect and admire. We became friendly, when, alas, one day some or being late to a date and getting a mintous, straightforward type, in into an awful row. Hazel, you are living in the wrong town. There are places where the populace are perfectly where the populace are perfectly ignorant as your new acquaintances—lots of them! But why deliberately pick such a place to live? Those spots are meant for the people who are born in them. For all others they are fatal. Some years before every one's hair was bobbed I had occasion to go to just such a community—and I assure you the clerks in the drug store were the only ones who were not were the only ones who were not absolutely afraid of me. My hair was short. No good could "come of it!" I had considerable fun as the good dames drew in their lips in passing me-their own hair screwed basing me—their own hair screwed back cruelly from faces that could have been pretty! With you—it is that you are divorced—as rare a thing among them as a short-haired girl in 1912. Just move, Hazel, and girl in 1912. Just move, Hazel, and next place, make no secret of the fact you are divorced. Your own attitude toward divorce has a lot to do with your predicament, you know. I dread to think what might have happened if I had been in the window sand the unit of the window and the unit of the window and the chinked in so far as is possible.

Conduct and Common Sense

THE VALUE OF DEPORT-MENT.

TOFTEN tell people not to bothe about outward show, especially when the kind of show they are bothered about doesn't really belong in their surroundings or suit their way of life. But I wish more people would worry about deportment. In America too many of us are afraid we may be considered inferior in position if we do not assert ourselves by performing, slackly and slouchily, any service which we are paid to perform. We think if we put some snap and smartness into it that somebody may imagine we are good in our work because we are no better than our work. As a matter of fact, the higher a person is in the social scale—the more mentality a person has—the better that person works and the more punctilious he or she is about the technique of deportment. If a princess had to earn her living by being waiting-maid to some great, rich, common woman, you may be sure she would never forget to call her mistress "Madam" and to stand, as it were, at attention when being spoken to. Nobody who really is anybody has to put on airs.

Both business service, and house service, as rendered by my country-more and reomes and to stand, as it were, as rendered by my country-more and reomes and really is point of view. Carter found that white people are immune to about outward show, especially when the kind of show they are bothered about doesn't really belong

WHY General Motors Cars are sold on the GMAC Plan

1 BECAUSE many people prefer to purchase cars out of income and General Motors wants you to get value for your automobile dollar-whether you buy for cash or on credit.

2 BECAUSE, being operated by a member of the General Motors family, the GMAC Plan assures sound credit service designed to hold good will.

3 BECAUSE, under the GMAC Plan, the cost of a General Motors car purchased on credit is the standard cash delivered price, plus only the low GMAC financing charge.

The GMAC Plan is available only through General Motors dealers. It may be comfortably fitted to the individual requirements of buyers with assured income. Your nearest General Motors dealer will explain its advantages.

In a Michigan Bank

Elkhart, Ind., Oct. 18 (By A. P.)—The Slee State Bank of Dowagiac, Mich., was robbed of $75,-

000 in currency and securities by three men who held it up this aft-ernoon, according to a report received here. Chris A. Hux, cashier of the bank, and six other employers were compelled to lie on the floor while the robbers ransacked the vault. The robbers were unmasked, Hux said. Three customers were in the bank at the time. The robbers escaped in a motor car.

Force Needed to Oust State Prison Inmate

Fort Madison, Iowa, Oct. 18 (By A. P.) -An inmate of the lowa State prison was forcibly ejected today, after he had argued with the prison officials for more than two hours that he was being wrongfully cast out into freedom

The prisoner, E. J. Brown, of Tama county, was sentenced to a five-year term for embezzlement, Good behavior had reduced his sentence by more than year and it expired today.

Advised by Peter Neal, prison clerk, that he was free, Brown reminded the official that Judge Nichols had sentenced him to five years and that he was going to remain.

Persuasion failed and guards vere called upon to throw him out, though Brown battled with them to the outer door.

It was not surprising that the call loan rate should drop as it did at a period between the middle and the end of the month, when the demands for credit are most severe. It was interesting to note, though, that last autumn on the corresponding day, call money renewed at 5 and dropped to 4½ per cent as was the case today.

Ever since the middle of last month the course of call money rates this year has corresponded very closely with last year's. The courses have not yet run parallel for a long enough time to comprise anything more than a phenomenon of passing interest, but if they run side by side much longer chartists would not be entirely without justification if they attempted to make predictions as to the credit situation on the basis of the history of less winter. last winter.

Another break in silver prices enlivened an already active foreign exchange market. The weakness of the metal brought out renewed selling of Hongkong dollars and Chinese taels and buying of Japanese yen. As a result the former two reached the lowest prices recorded since 1914, and the yen established a new high for the year, within half a cent of gold parity. Meanwhile Norwegian kroner and Spanish pesetas, which have supplied the fireworks in the European exchanges for the last few days the metal brought out renewed sell-

Stocks Steady Up After Shifting Uneasily—Many Good Gains Scored.

CALL FUNDS 41/2 PER CENT

Special to The Washington Post.
New York, Oct. 18.—Stock prices seesawed in a rather narrow trading rut in today's session on the New York Stock Exchange. Dealings were in fair volume, transactions totaling 1,667,700 shares, but the market merely shifted uneasily up and down as professionals labored unsuccessfully to force a broad movement in one direction or the other.

Gains of a point or two brought out offerings of traders who had been waiting to sell on bulges, and reactions of similar proportions ran into a wall of buying orders from short sellers anxious to take profits.

The best of the buying was attracted by the rails, the coppers and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and the mercantile shares, while ran into a wall of buying orders from short sellers anxious to take profits.

The best of the buying was attracted by the rails, the coppers and the mercantile shares, while the selling converged on the oils and some of the industrials, the low-priced unseasoned motor shares in particular. In the final hour of trading, however, the list developed a rather steady upward trend, and under the leadership of some of the carrier shares, chiefly those included in the Van Sweringen merger plan, active stocks moved appreciably above Saturday's final levels and closing prices were at or near the day's highs.

There was not much snap at any stage to either the buying or the selling and as the day progressed even the professionals seemed to tire of seesawing the list in such short swings. Moderately lower ecotton prices may have caused some selling and as the day progressed even the professionals seemed to tire of seesawing the list in such short swings. Moderately lower ecotton prices may have caused some selling of stocks and the decrease in the call money rate from 5 to 4½ per cent some buying, but on the whole there was little surface news to help along a movement in either distressed selling and apparanchity the public was sitting tight, waiting for the professionals to get things going again one way or another.

New Chilean Loan Is Oversubscribed-Rally in Foreign List Halts.

RAIL GROUP IS SLUGGISH

New York, Oct. 18 (By the New York, Oct. 18 (By the Associated Press.).—Dealing in the bond market today took second place to a revival of interest in new financing, which accompanied the heavy oversubscription of a $42,500,000 Chilean loan and the offering of a $25,000,000 bond issue for the city of Philadelphia. Price changes of listed securities were narrow and insignificant, with slightly lower levels established for a few industrial and public utility liens.

The new Chilean 6 per cent bonds, offered at 93¼ were virial and public utility liens. Cinterest in new financing, which bonds, offered at 93 % were virtually all sold before the opening of the subscription books and quickly commanded a slight premium above the offering price when trading started on the stock exchange. The 4½ per cent Phila-delphia bonds were awaarded to a syndicate headed by the First Na tional Bank of New York on a bid of 100.163 and several hours later were placed on the market at a price of 101.

Profit-taking checked a promising rally which was under way in the foreign division at the close of last week. French 7s lost a full point and most of the other French government and municipal issues, after selling around the year's high levels worked fractionally lower. levels, worked fractionally lower. City of Sao Paulo 8s showed inde-pendent strength, amounting to a new top price above 108.

Railroad bonds were sluggish, the general price average of both first grade and secondary obligations remaining unchanged.

The only movement to attract attention in this group was a decline of 1¹⁴ points in Southern Railway 4s of 1951.

Railway 4s of 1951.

Granby Mining 7s resumed their forward movement with a 2-point gain which was counteracted by selling activities elsewhere. Cuyamel Fruit 6s, Sinclair Oil 6s, Pa-Telephone 5s and Indiana Steel issues were heavy.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 18 (By A. P.)—An early decline under further Southern selling and renewed liquidation was followed by railies in the cotton market today on covering and trade buying. January sold up from 12.65 to 12.88 and closed at 12.86, the general market closing steady at net declines of 10 to 15 points.

The opening was easy at a decline of 11 to 29 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables, reports of favorable weather over Sunday, retterated talk of increasing crop prospects and renewed Southern selling. Watch had been in vidence here towards as good to comparatively moderate railies, cand active months soid about 30 to 35 points net lower before noon, with December touching 12.58 and March 12.92.

Offerings tapered off at these figures, which seemed to bring in more buying for both trade and investment account, and the market was firmer, late in the day, owing largely to the failure of Southern hedging to increase as usual during the last half about 20 to 23 points from the low lovel of the morning, and the close was within 2 or 3 points of the best. Reports that a tropical storm nearing the Yucatan channel showed increasing intensity may have had some sentimental effect, while the late market was also influenced by Washington reports suggesting some progress in plans for the financing of cotton withheld from market. Notwithstanding the Review of spot offerings in the interior. These advices were colored by the comparatively small volume of heeging noted after the first half hour.

Experts see very heavy today, aggregating 180.508 bales, which made 1,381.414 bales exported so far this season. Port receipts, 134.689. U

THE public high school cham-pionship football series today will see the 1925 titleholder will see the 1925 titleholder—Central—make its bow in a game with Eastern at the Wilson Memorial stadium, starting at 3:15 pm. This contest is only the second of the series, and upon its result the scholastic dopesters may have something tangible in selecting the ultimate champion.

Both Central and Eastern are inexperienced, having lost most of experienced, having lost most of their last year's regulars and gain-ed but few new players who can match the performances of the graduates. But while the game may lack an exhibition of good foot-hall on that account it certainly ball on that account it certainly will be filled with the schools' tra-will be filled with the schools' traditional fighting spirit.

Early season scores would install Central as the favorite to win today's clash. From a terrible performance given in the first game of the year against Baltimore Polytechnic, Coach Kelly's eleven has gradually improved, and Alexandria High was defeated easily, 20 to 0.

ASTERN, however, has absorbed a counle of beatings by decisive scores, and virtually nothing was shown by the Guyon-coached team that would promise a victory over Central. But this is not an accurate gauge on Eastern's chances, simply because high school dope seldom has proven sorrect.

'Alex the Great' Loses To Amateur Nine, 14-5

Omaha, Nebr., Oct. 18. (By A. P.) .- Grover Cleveland Alexander, nemesis of the hard-hit ting New York Yankees in the world series, was back on the stage of a local theater today, exhibiting a sore arm.

Yesterday he consented to pitch in a game between two of Omaĥa's fastest amateur teams. In seven innings the sandlotters nicked Alex, for eleven hits and ten runs. However, just to show what he could do, Alexander let three men on and then struck out the next batter. His side lost, 14 to 5 .

"The old arm is pretty sore," Alex explained.

the reverse-English felicitations.

"Gloomy Monday" is as much an institution with college coaches as the college itself. It is their day with the team and they are not backward. They are free to criticize, free to admonish and free to inform the world in general that their squads acted like the greatest collection of bohunks, the preceding Saturday that every graced a regulation uniform.

In the turnover Yale already is among the leaders of the Eastern pack, as a result of a decisive defeat of the 1925 champion, Dartmouth, while

If the team was unlucky enough to lose Saturday's game then each and every one of the score of hapless vanquished was blamed individually and collectively for the defeated. The team's play was dissected thoroughly and its shortcomings bawled out in no mistakable terms.

This writer has attended more than one of these "gloomy Monday" sessions. On one ocasion the coach took it upon himself to point out the cause for defeat. It was an engaging task. Durside the coach took is the cause for defeat. It was an engaging task. Durside the cach and start, is adjusting itself for better things.

The forward pass is the chief element in this transformation. Yale and Harvard altogether scorned the use of the aerial game as it has developed by leaps and bounds in recent campaigns but they have been leaders among the old guard in keeping the emphasis on the rushing type of game. It was significant Saturday, therefore, that Harvard's triumph over William and Mary, as well as Yale's smashing wictory over Dartmouth, were due largely to the effective use of the pass.

YALE, in beating Dartmouth at the latter's own passing game, gave evidence of the fine handiwork of Maj. V. E. Prichavd, only army star who engineered many a cadet aerial attack. Prichard is assisting Head Coach Tad Jones at New Haven this fall, and to him is attributed much of the versatility displayed in the Eli game.

McKechnie took over the Pirate

McKechnie took over the Pirate managerial reins in 1922 when George Gibson resigned on short notice. At that time he was a coach and assistant to Gibson.
McKechnie's reign for several seasons was tranquil. His stock went sky high in 1925 when he piloted the club to a National league pennant and thence to the world's title over the Washington Nationals.

THEN came the hectic season of 1926, when the Pirates, after a good start, were torn asunder by internal discord. The trouble centered about the managership. Some players were alleged to have led movement to oust the veteran Fred Clarke, vice president of the club and McKechnic's as-sistant, from the bench.

This resulted in the release of Max Carey, captain and star out-fielder, to Brooklyn for the waiver price, and the unconditional release of Babe Adams and Carson Bigbee

PRINCE OF WALES WINS FOURTH IN ROW AT LAUREL

Sande Scores Again With Sprinter

Winner Beats Adria by Head in Easton Handicap.

Cherry Pie Returns to Form to Win Cloverdale.

18 .- Score another for Jockey Earl Sande and the Mc-Lean stable's much improved Prince of Wales. The brown son of High Time won his fourth straight race at Laurel this afternoon when he beat a band of sprinters in the Easton handicap, a dash of six furlongs, to which was added a purse of $1.500.

Prince of Wales shouldered 126 pounds, conceded lumps of weight to his opposition, made all of his own pace and won in a mild drive by a head from Adria. In the early running Prince of Wales ran under stout restraint. He raced Son Ami into submission the first half-mile but at the end began to tire. An-but at the end began to tire. Answering Sande's call in game fashion he lasted long enough to stall off Adria's rush.

The latter was a trailer in the early stages and she worked her way up on the outside. This mare will not go through on the inside which accounts for her being taken wide in all of her races.

HERRY PIE, racing in his best form and showing none of his mean temper that has frequently been a hindrance, showed his true worth when he accounted for the Cloverdale, the mile and one-sixteenth number that was down for decision as the semifinal event.

By so doing he beat out a real good lot that vied for su-premacy with him. Taps, from the Glen Riddle establishment, was the one to offer the winner the stoutest argument throughout the running and at the end was beaten out just a half-length, while a length and one-half separated the place and one-half separated the place and third horses.

Beverwyck, making his second appearance among the steeplechasing brigade, scored his second consecutive triumph when he proved the best in the 2 miles of the initial number on the afternoon's program. Although he scored without any trouble there would have been a real race had Double Tip stood a real race had Double Tip stood up. The latter and the winner came to the thirteenth fence racing head and head, but Double Tip, with Jockey P. McCloskey, went down and this gave J. L. Burtt-down and this gave J. L. establishment, with Sande as his pilot, made good for form students when he scored brackets to graduate out of the maiden ranks in the when he scored brackets to gradu-ate out of the maiden ranks in the second race, which was entirely con-fined to juveniles at 6 furlongs. Com-ing from behind a fast pace cut out by John Speed and Purple Pirate, the Widener color bearer gained the lead on reaching the main stretch, and once in command never left the and once in command never left the ultimate result in doubt. Golden Volt, one of the principal contenders throughout, was the one to gain the place award, beaten out a length and one-quarter by the winner.

The fourth event, another affair fashioned for juveniles, was productashioned for juveniles, which was tive of a keen contest, which was accounted for by John Pat McGov-ern's recent acquisition, Poly, and incidentally he entered the roster rocidentally he entered the roster for double winners at this meeting. Poly's winning margin, after making the running throughout the contest, was of short dimensions, being just a half length to the good of Land Lord, from the J. K. L. MRS. TILLEY WINS MEDAL IN MIDDLE ATLANTIC GOLF

Indian Spring Star's Card

D. C. Woman Leads Tourney Field by Two Strokes.

Feat Considered Good on Course Made Soggy by Rain.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 18. — First laurels in the Middle Atlantic championship, which is in progress at the Baltimore Country club, went to Mrs. E. R. Tilley, of the Indian Spring Golf club, Wash-ington, when she turned in a 95 for low score in the qualification round usually heavy, due to rain, and Mrs. Tilley's score is considered good for 18 holes.

Two strokes behind the Washington woman was Miss Effle Bowes, the only local woman to break 100. Miss only local woman to break 100. Miss Bowes, representing Rodgers Forge, is one of Maryland's outstanding links women and is one of the favorites. Miss Bowes played a beautiful game today and until the last few minutes of play it looked as if the medalist would be a Maryland woman. But Mrs, Tilley's 95 upset these hopes and the medalist crown went to the Washington club.

A RS. E. B. MORROW, State title holder and champion of the Elk-ridge Hunt club team, was decidedly off her game and turned in a 101. Mrs. Morrow will undoubtedly strike her stride in the match play and give her opponent some stiff competition.

Running close to Mrs. Morrow in Running close to Mrs. Morrow in the medal round were Mrs. J. M. Haynes, of Washington, and Miss Elizabeth Heuisler, Rolling Road Golf-club, whose cards for the eighteen holes were each 103.

The field is one of the best that has ever played over a local course, and the remaining rounds of match play should bring forth some topnotch golf. There has been only one thing to mar the perfect success of the meet, and that is the last-minute withdrawal of Miss Dorothy White, recent winner of the District title and the Washington women's hope of capturing the midwomen's hope of capturing the mid-Atlantic crown. Another forced to withdraw was Mrs. H. Knox, of the Capital City.

The first round of match play will begin tomorrow at 9 o'clock. Play will continue throughout the week. with the semifinals on Thursday and the finals on Friday. There will be enough players for two sixteems to tee off this morning, and fans may expect to see a fair sort of golf played at the local club this week.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA.
Oct. 18 (By A. P.).—Faced with probably its hardest game of the season against Virginia game of the season against Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blackburg Saturday, the University of Virginia football squad will get down to work for the game tomorrow.

This afternoon practically the whole squad was allowed to rest up from the effects of the V. M. I. game Saturday, but for the remainder of the week Coach Neale will send his men through stiff workouts in an effort to polish off for the Gobbler encounter.

On Points in 12 Rounds

Baltimore, Oct. 18 (By A. P.).—
Eddie O'Dowd, of Columbus, Ohio, bantam, gained a judge's decision in twelve rounds over Nate Carp, of Baltimore, here tonight. O'Dowd used a left jab to advantage, although he failed to floor his opponent.

Hencounter.

While the varsity, working intact for the first time this year, looked to have made considerable improvement, the V. M. I. game has brought out the necessity for building up a better scoring attack. Defensively the Cavaliers appear powerful, while with Cuddy. Hutter. Laird and Hushlon the offense is equal to gain considerable ground.

In spite of the better showing cans it won't be because your Uncle Bertram is not spilling the dirt properly.

This applies especially to Latonia, as I spent an entire month in Cincinnati on Sunday getting the low down on some genuing sleepers. Looks like Judge Allie Young will grab off the opener with MOREHEAD. Trainer Perkins has picked the proper spot and is all ready to set sail.

In the second heat BRIGHT SHAWL on form, appears best, but HOT SPOT has been burning up the track in trials.

GALLOPING SHOES is nicely weighted and is carrying some heavy commissions in the third.

STARS FOR MERCURY JRS.

"Brother" Wilver, who gave a good account of himself when he played in the backfield for the Mercury Juniors last season, is holding down one of the end positions this season for the little Winged Foot eleven and Coach McDonald is quite pleased with his work.

By RICHARD S. TENNYSON.

K NOWN as one of the fastest growing sports in the United States, soccer is living up to that point of view locally in a 100per-cent manner. Starting last year, when the first attempt was made to play the game on an organized basis, six teams entered the controlling body, the Washington Soccer League. This year there are twelve teams in the circuit, and indications point to enother large indications point to another large in-crease next season, as several teams desired to enter this year, but were not quite ready. Naturally as the number of teams increases so does the number of spectators grow to larger propor ing league soccer games on the Monument grounds, and, if the opening-day crowds is a criterion, this number will be exceeded this

In order that new soccer fans may get full enjoyment out of the game that is played throughout the world—in 61 nations to be exact— this series of articles has been prepared. Not only the spectator but the young player, it is hoped, will derive some benefits, for it is planned to describe the positions of the players and the functions of each in detail.

OCCER is played with a round ball, which is propelled by the body, feet or head, but only one player on a team is permitted to use his hands or arms. This player is known as the goalkeeper, and he may, within a certain marked-off area that will be described later, use his hands. Outside of this area he is restricted the this area he is restricted the same as other players.

Sure Handling of the Ball. LEAN handling of the ball and LEAN handling of the ball and end play was stressed yesterday by Coach Curley Byrd of the Maryland tootball team, who is preparing his charges with the view of turning back the North Carolina eleven at College Park Saturday.

Maryland's line, with the exception of the ends, has stood the teat well in all previous games, while the backfield men, when they could hold on to the ball, have gained ground consistently, making many long marches only to have them nulified by butterfingered work.

Coach Byrd knew at the beginning of the season that the line was going to offer him trouble and he expected that, though hardly to the extent that his end have fallen down, but he felt that he had a bunch of backs who would meet most every need and only in fumbling have the ball toters disappointed him.

THE Old Liners feel that they have more than an even chance of licking the Tarheels in their first big home game of the season and that if a victory can be scored more will follow to wipe out the bad start that has been made.

It would not be surprising if some radical shifts will be made by Coach Byrd to solve the end problem. He By AL DEMAREE.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugarcoated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomef does without any of the bad after effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.—

North American Dividend Gossip.

Rumors of a change in the dividend policy of the North American Co., which have been going the rounds within the last few days, are said to be unfounded. Speaking of these rumors yesterday. Frank L. Dame, president of the company, said: "There is no truth in them and the subject has not been discussed even by the officers of the company."

of the company."

Among the changes in dividen policy which some in the financia district said were in prospect wathe report that the North America Co, would pass the dividend entiry and another one that the conly, and another one, that the copany would pay in cash instead stock.

"In a company such as ours," said Mr. Dame, "about 50 per cent of the financing should be done by bonds of subsidiaries, perhaps one-half of the balance by subsidiary preferred stocks sold locally, but, unless the holding company makes additional investments on the common stock to keep a balanced capital structure, the credit of the subsidiary companies, will be impaired. Our dividend policy provides a substantial part of the money needed for this purpose."

COMMISSION MEN'S VIEWS ON MARKET

Committees Still Canvassing Sentiment on Desirability of Three Sites.

ADVOCATES PLANNING APPEAL TO CONGRESS

Reasons Are Stated for Preference of Eckington by Planners.

The committee representing commission merchants affected by the change of the farmers' market and commission site will not be ready to confer with National Capital park and planning commission representatives regarding their tentatives election of a new site in the Eckington, Southwest, Mid-City order or preference until the latter part of the week.

taken longer than expected. They still have conferences between Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania railroad officials regarding sites to be had this week. It was said that the canvass shows that all three sites are held in favor of various groups of commission man provide. taken longer than expected. They groups of commission men providg certain conditions are complied th regard to each of them, but was not deemed advisable to make these public at this time.

The next step in the plan to transfer the farmers' market and commission sites is a conference of park and planning officers with the committee representing the commission men, and it was first planned to the will use in the race, and it was approved by Rear day, tives will first be formally informed use of the choice of the park and planning commission.

the Southwest Business Men's asso-ciation for the water front choice, second on the preferred list of the park and planning commission, its members declare that Congress will learn that this is the most economsite and that the Eckington ction represents the least accessible of all to patrons and farmers.

Why Eckington Was Favored.

Why Eckington Was Favored.

Park and planning commission—sees explained that the Eckington site was favored because of its railroad facilities, their possible development and for prevention of trucking through the Mall to the Southwest site. In support of the preliminary report of Friday, they declared that information from 130 farmers of Maryland and the District showed that during the past year they brought $360,000 worth of produce here while that from 27 farmers of Virginia indicated but farmers of Virginia indicated but $28,000 worth was delivered from North Capitol street and the Columbia Institution for the Deaf. Commissioners recalled percentage figures of the preliminary report showing that the greater part of shipments come from the North and West, and asserted that the possibility of railroad terminal development is easy in the Eckington area which is readily accessible to motor transportation from all parts of the city.

woman Injured by Auto.

Knocked down by an automobile at Ninth and H streets yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Almie Roamer, 30 years old, 819 Tenth street northwest, suffered bruisses to the body and a possible fracture of the ribs.

Eckington, according to present consideration, is contemplated as the eventual center for all downtown market facilities it was announced, but the matter has not progressed beyond the stage of discussion as Center market will remain in its present location for some time and will be moved only when patronage demands its removal.

They emphasized the fact that
